Foreword

Looking seaward, he beheld his ship coming with the mist. Then the gates of his heart were flung open and his joy flew far over the sea. And he closed his eyes and prayed in the silence of his soul.

But as he descended the hill, a sadness came over him and he thought in his heart:

How shall I go in peace and without sorrow?

Nay, not without a wound in the spirit shall I leave.

So we too, the graduates of 1962, pause in the midst of that which has been and that which is to be — longing to keep the one, yet take up the other.

Let us then record here the best of what has been; not what we have given, for that can only be appreciated by those who come after us; nor what we have felt, for insight into Truth and Beauty escape the written page.

Rather, we set down in this volume the tangible memories of our days at Regis College, and in doing so, preserve a lasting record of our college careers.

Dedication

You have walked among us a spirit, and your shadow has been a light upon our faces.

a spirit . . .
of knowing that your shadow was always there to light our ways of learning with sparks of love . . .

this same spirit that seeped through our world of truth now asks to light this Way
in dedication to You, our parents.

In moments still with soul . . .
the hushed deo gratias
the silent Ave
Your Shadow

In moments filled with laughter . . .
the whirling dorm
the teeming gym
Your Spirit

In moments still with mind
the questioning classroom
the searching study
Your Light

In moments filled with joy . . .
the Christmas ceremony
Commencement
Your Love

REGIS
COLLEGE

History

Over a span of thirty-five years, the Sisters of Regis College of Weston have fostered the growth of an idea, the expansion of the Morrison Estate into a living community of seven hundred Catholic college students. To us, the graduates of 1962, Regis has meant the embodiment of a certain way of life, a rich tradition in whose heritage we share. Today, as we think in retrospect upon our life at Regis, we cannot help giving thought to the history contained herein.

Regis Hall, once the main building of the Morrison Estate, marked the beginning of the campus. It meant classrooms, dormitories, and chapel to the first graduates. For us, it has been the scene of music and the fine arts, socials, lectures, and informal meetings.

Coming down from Regis Hall, we approach College Hall, a tall columned building, erected in 1928, and the focal point of the College. Its grandeur is impressive, with its foyer, where we stood for our initial reception, danced at the Senior Ball, and from which we marched in final procession to our graduation. It is noted as well for its classroom, dining, and living areas.

From the Parterre we can see Cardinal O'Connell Hall, the science building which was erected in 1938. Modern laboratories and lecture halls aid the students in their study of the sciences. Facilities for the study of business may be found in the Commerce Building, part of the original Estate.

In 1946, a residence for the religious faculty was built behind College Hall. It was named St. Joseph Hall in honor of the patron of the community founded in LePuy, France, in 1650.

The Library, a modern structure completed in 1955, affords the opportunity for the satisfaction of an inquiring mind. Some unique features are the language labs, seminar rooms, and the offices of the Cardinal Spellman Philatelic Society containing the Cardinal's invaluable stamp collection.

Maria Hall, erected in 1957, a dormitory for upperclassmen, is the most modern structure on campus. Its three lounges provide both recreation and an atmosphere conducive to study.

Alumnae Hall, a student union building is now under construction. It will provide administrative offices, dining rooms, lounges, a gymnasium, and conference rooms for students and alumnae.

With the coming years, Regis will grow and progress. The class of 1962, however, will remember its Alma Mater this way . . . with fondness and respect.

During the past year faculty members have either launched or begun new projects. The lecture committee planned two lectures in the "Dimensions and Perspectives" series; Dr. William Osborne of St. John's University spoke in the fall to commemorate the Civil War Centennial, and Miss Barbara Ward, noted economist, author and intellectual, delivered a lecture in March. The committee is composed of Sister M. Claire, Miss Hamilton and Mr. Overkleeft.

And
now we must leave silently, sadly, forgetting only ourselves.

And
now we must enter

In Memoriam

MELANIE E. BRADY

REQUIESCAT IN PACE

Born January 11, 1941 Died January 31, 1960

61 West Albert St.
Lowell, Mass.
January 16, 1962

Dear Seniors:

We are deeply appreciative to the Senior Class of 1962 for their remembrance of our beloved Melanie in their Yearbook. Her greatest and only desire was to be a member of your class. Her life was the epitome of courage, vision and deep faith — an example worthy of emulation by all who love their fellow men.

This was Melanie's graduation photograph from Keith Hall in 1956; her proudest and happiest day.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Roger M. Brady

Senior Candids

Coffee, tea, or milk?

How did you say you inserted the carbon, Carole?

But really dahling, I can't stop now; I'm on my way to seminar.

I guess this beats the smoker.

Tuesday, 3:35!

Mmmmmmmmmm . . . . . just ONE more piece, and then I'll start my diet, first thing in the morning.

How could I have forgotten my seminar notes!

So we smiled and they took our picture!

And they said only two to a bench.

O-o-o-h 'enry 'iggins!

I hope he doesn't notice the run in my stocking!

Hey Judy, B. C. calling?

Where now -- Ho Jo's or Giovanni's?

Oh, this isn't so much for one weekend!

Harvest Hop?

Anybody goiu' our way?

Wauna' see a fish?

Scientific packing. Is that the answer?

I'm sitting on top of the world!

In the still of the night . . .

You name it — La Traviata or Chopsticks!

It's better than Metrecal.

Soooooooo that's what goes on behind the scenes!

So, I sez ta' da' guy . . .

Now everybody say cheeeeeese.

Guess what we've posing for?

I almost danced all night!

But Sister, please, I've got to?

Some midnight snack you've having.

One crew-cut, coming up!

A loaf of bread, a can of beer, and thou.

We're laughing, but haven't the strength for a cha-cha.

Judy's ignoring "those two."

The Bloomer Girls.

I can't look! I've made 36 mistakes already!

Juniors

CLASS OFFICERS

What makes the one hundred eighty-six women in the class of 1963 the class that they are — what makes them "tick"?

Since the class first entered these "immortal walls" in their freshman year, they have steadily climbed toward a realization of ideals and aims.

Equipped with many outstanding and responsible leaders and even more numerous, indefatigable and faithful workers, the class has grown to be a distinct and distinguished entity.

During freshman year, a strong emphasis was placed on unity and strength. With the transition to sophomore year, a tremendous class spirit evolved. It was exemplified in the planning of a class party, a Regis first, which the enthusiasm and perseverance of the class followed to a complete success.

As we have progressed through our Junior year, a knowledge of increasing maturity has added new depths and value to this class spirit, unity, and enthusiasm.

Just call us Crepe Paper Incorporated!

Hmmmm, you say he's your older brother?

Are you sure that cheating isn't allowed?

Cross my palm with ten cents and I'll let go of my end of the saucer!

Oh, those Junior Seminars!

A "quickie" before class

Entering Junior year at Regis College is presumed to be a definite mark of distinction, where one is approaching the last half of her college career, exalted as an upperclassman, with ample time to weigh and absorb all that college has to offer.

While stressing subjects concerned with their major fields and experiencing that "panic-instigator" — seminar — for the first time, the juniors realize that their goals have been made clearer or even changed since that first week at Regis. Then, they were but unknowing and unsuspecting freshmen, relying very much on their junior sisters. Now, two years later, they are the junior sisters, guiding the freshmen.

Anticipating a year filled with memorable social events, the heart of every junior is brimming with enthusiasm and fervor as they experience new challenges and happiness from Junior Bridge to Junior Week, from the Ring Day and Dance to a week in Bermuda.

Sophomores

Caught between freshman bewilderment and senior surety, the Sophomore class finds itself a notch higher on wisdom's ladder. Mind and intellect having been discovered, the sophomore vacillates between the despair of existential "blobness" and desire to conquer the world. Nietzsche replaces Father Gardiner, and Otto Preminger moves over for Ingmar Bergman. Gone are those required sampling courses for freshmen as the sophomore enters her "field" to seek the masters and ally herself with them. From the transcendentals to traumatic experiences, the "wise fool" finds that life can be a bowl of cherry pits, but somehow her optimistic spirit always manages to pull her out of the depths.

Our class, realizing its entity, has commanded a full and unified group spirit. Can any of us forget our return this fall when we were able to greet everyone we knew instead of uncertainly watching a sea of faces roll by. And Beanie Week — the first thing our class did together this year. Often we were amazed to think how short a time it had been since the beanies were on our heads!

Sophomore retreat, given by a Stigmatine father, brought us even closer to each other and closer to God. Everything, ranging from metaphysics to marriage, was debated at the two open conferences as views were aired.

Not too windy — only her 25th match!

Say a-a-a-ah!

. . . on the dotted line please!

He finally signed it "love"!

Oh, for a player piano . . .

Don't tell me she went here, too?

Tense moment of the Regis pastime—bridge.

Exams followed retreat and after those two weeks of midwinter fire and brimstone came Sophomore Weekend. Of course the main event was the dance at the 1200 Beacon, while other activities, including the traditional class banquet and entertainment, filled the rest of the time.

However quickly Freshmen year seemed to pass, Sophomore year has gone even quicker. It hardly seems possible that next year we will be upperclassmen, orientating our own "bewitched, bothered and bewildered" freshmen sisters. To our sister class, we wish God's blessings, and future success.

The phenomenon known as a freshman class is difficult to describe and almost impossible to understand. The adjectives usually applied to a freshman in her first days of college are "bewildered", "befuddled", and others of a like nature, none of which is very flattering.

When we first came to Regis, we had great expectations. Something "wonderful and exciting" was supposed to hit us. At the end of the first quarter, when it still hadn't hit, we decided it was about time for us to go out and hit it. Everything we wanted was here, but we had to exert a little effort to find it. Success in college is not served on a platter.

We set about choosing girls to lead the class through the year, and were told by many a shocked upperclassman that our methods of conducting campaigns and elections were rather unorthodox and couldn't we please be a little quieter.

The Christmas Banquet — all they said it would be and more!

View from the bridge?

Before we knew it Christmas, with all its attendant festivities, was upon us — and the year was half over. Exams caused a flurry of activity and an increase in the number of people on line in the clinic each night. We managed to get through, however, and continued on our way. Freshman Weekend was one of the highlights of the year. All of a sudden it was May and there they were again — exams!

The end of the year is marred by only one thing: the departure of "our Seniors". We are sorry to see you go, because you have given us a wonderful example and have been so friendly. (This came as a pleasant surprise to some of us, who thought that Seniors would be much too involved with profound questions to bother with the "bewildered" freshmen.) Before you go, we want only to thank you and wish you all happiness through life.

I won't dance.....don't ask me!

"They should remember their pleasures with gratitude, as they would the harvest of a summer."

Student Council

Student Government

"If our future is to be worthy of our past, if the fruit of America's promise does not wither before it has reached full maturity, our present preeminent need is to reaffirm the sense of individual obligation, to place clearly before ourselves the foundation upon which personal responsibility rests. . . ."

These words, taken from the 1960 Statement of the American Hierarchy, underlie the intergrating theme chosen by Student Council during the past year. Under the direction of Mary Alice Bernet and Carol Kennedy, the Student Association has become more aware of its Commitment to Responsibility, both in the academic and spiritual realms. This theme was highlighted by the fourth annual Campus Community Conference, held on October thirtieth, which chose "Personal Responsibility" as its topic of discussion.

The committees, guided by their executive chairmen of Council, have stressed commitment to responsibility in their activities, receiving enthusiastic support from the students. The Council has also stressed more active participation of the students in Student Association meetings, and emphasized the importance of individual responsibility in bettering the Regis Community.

Student Council has led the students of Regis to a fuller realization of the personal responsibility to God, to others, and to themselves.

Sodality

Elaine Di Cicco, Treas.; Ellen Powers, Sec'y.; Kathy McAdams, Delegate to College Sodality Union; Millie Cahill, Prefect; Mary Alice Gilmore, Vice-Prefect.

Sodalists of Our Lady, guided by Reverend P. James Seymour, O.S.A., used the cell technique this year to grow in apostolic leadership. Three cells engaged in off-campus apostolates, and three others principally as study groups.

Officers conducted bi-monthly meetings for associate members and coordinated the activities of the entire Sodality.

An All Saints' costume party bore witness to sodalists' ingenuity and wit, valuable assets for an apostle. Other events of the year included: Communism films, conference on Personal Responsibility, demonstration of the Mass, closed retreat, and Solemn reception of sodalists making permanent acts of Consecration.

In March, Regis sodalists met with members of other Catholic colleges in the area to arrange intercollegiate cells for summer meetings.

I. R. C.

Striving to keep its members aware and actively interested in the problems of the world, the International Relations Club promotes studies of critical areas of other nations. Some of its activities include lectures, discussion groups with students from other colleges, and participation in regional affairs.

The members also helped to prepare students for the lecture given in March by Barbara Ward, by running discussion groups to become familiar with Miss Ward's works and ideas. A highlight of the year was an illustrated lecture on the current scene in Poland by Dr. Wysocki of the Psychology department.

Millicent Diggs, Sec'y; Louise Luebbers, Pub. Mgr; Mary K. Reid and Ann White, Librarians; Antoinette Schwartz, Bus. Mgr.; Carol Masiuk, Pres.

Glee Club

We are in an age of Public Relations, and the Glee Club is one of our most active "PR" groups. Under the direction of Sister Margaret William and Mr. Raymond Dellovo, the Club presented the annual Christmas Concert, represented Regis at a festival at Holy Cross, presented a joint concert with Providence College, and performed at Regis Night at Pops. To these audiences, the Glee Club is Regis. The many rehearsal hours and sustained attendance by members is a credit to the club and to the Regis family.

Nancy Greene, Vice-Pres.; Andrea Lynch, Pub. Mgr.; Marie Mannella, Pres.; Joan Williams, Sec'y.; Patricia Madden, Treas.

Kappa Phi Epsilon

Kappa Phi Epsilon, known as the Business Club, provides an atmosphere for students aspiring to a career in the business world. The bond which unites the thirteen seniors evokes such memories as a hurried walk to the Commerce Building, a guided tour through Regis Offices, Mr. Gregg, and balance sheets.

This year, Kappa Phi Epsilon has stressed the fact that it is a campus club and therefore, open to all Regis students.

Carol Masiuk, Vice-Pres; Alice Finn, Treas.; Brenda Blazonis, Sec'y., Barbara Gaudet, Pres.

Literati

English majors on the Regis campus enjoy the activities of the Literati Club whose aims of promoting interest in English literature and drama provide much fascination and incentive for all.

Speakers from many universities graciously hold lectures and lead discussions during the monthly meetings. The most memorable of these has been a discussion of the novel by Professor Edward Wagenknecht and a lecture on drama given by Professor Hirsch.

It has been a policy with the club to provide time at the beginning of each meeting for those members who wish to offer their original contributions to the writing field.

Modern Language Club

The function of the Modern Language Club is a working one which brings added culture to members majoring in modern languages by lectures, films, panel discussions and field trips. Combined interests in other countries, their language, customs and inhabitants are manifested in the students' ability, with the help of a moderator, to organize meetings on a monthly basis.

Officers are elected from the fields of French and Spanish and serve a term of one year. The experience gained from the participation in such a club gives members a deeper insight into the past, present and future of their chosen field and professions.

Mary Ann Guarino, Pub. Mgr.; Maureen Mulcahy, Pres.; Helen Gazda, Vice-Pres.; Claire Boivin, Treas.; and Barbara McNamara, Sec'y.

Kathleen Connors, Vice-Pres.; Ann Donegan, Treas.; Patricia Tobin, Pres.; Anne Hickey, Sec'y.

Government Club

The Government Club members strive to integrate their philosophical background with current civic and world problems. A varied program of speakers and discussions was planned this year including a speaker on the Berlin crisis and a joint meeting with the Economics Club, at which was discussed the role of economics in government.

Members participated in local politics by working at the polls during local and national elections. Emphasis on active engagement on a wider political sphere was accomplished with the attendance of members at the U.N.E.S.C.O. Conference in Boston and their visit to the U.N. building in New York.

Leo XIII Club

In conjunction with the Centennial Celebration of the Civil War, the History Club began the year with a deeply moving film entitled, "The Face of Lincoln." Another meeting afforded the History majors a thought provoking lecture on the true import of Soviet Communism, given by one of the Regis faculty members, Doctor Anthony Perchinac.

The Spring brought a trip to Boston, a look at the Massachusetts State Archives, and a walk along the "Freedom Trail."

Terminating the 1961-1962 year was a farewell party for the Seniors, at which an illustrated lecture entitled "Tale of Three Cities, Moscow, Warsaw, and Berlin", was given by William McCrea of M. I. T.

Jane Guerke, Pres.; Eleanor Doyle, Vice-Pres.; Joanne Fitzgerald, Pub. Mgr.; Phyllis Kearney, Treas.; Roseanne Belz, Sec'y.

Nu Beta

Nu Beta, the Psychology department club, aims to promote a general interest in psychology and to aid the student in her intellectual grasp of modern trends in the field.

This objective is achieved through a series of lectures given by outstanding psychologists and by the participation of Nu Beta members in intercollegiate activities.

Through the efforts of this club, students in the department are given direction toward professional opportunities in a growing and dynamic field.

Marilyn Kiernan, Pres.; Kathleen Meelia, Pub. Mgr.; Beverly Hanscom, Treas.; Mary Brennan, Sec'y; Eleanor Silva, Vice-Pres.

Kathryn Mead, Treas.; Mary Connors, Sec'y; Patricia Long, Pres.; Margaret Meckels, Vice-Pres.

Ethelon Club

Ethelon, the departmental club for Sociology majors, provides a wide range of activities, social and academic, to introduce the student to opportunities for careers and further study in the field of Sociology.

Seminars and lectures conducted by professionals in the field, and trips to social institutions are included among the activities. Members also volunteer their services to social agencies in the Boston area. Other important events of the year include the Food Sale and a Christmas Party held at Regis Hall.

Ethelon provides an opportunity for professional preparation in the field of social service.

Mission Unit

"Congratulations on your lend-lease program. They will love it. I predict many others will follow their example." With these words, Cardinal Cushing blessed the efforts of the Regis Lay Apostolate in 1950. Since that time Regis has sent 116 graduates as apostles to 25 mission schools in the South and Southwest of the United States, and beyond it to Alaska, Bolivia, Canada, Guam, Jamaica, and Puerto Rico. This year's class hopes to open the gateway to the East with missions in Formosa and India.

Supported by the students of Regis, one of the most popular activities is the Senior Show, "Hey Look Us Over" written by Maureen Connelly.

Cardinal Spellman Student Philatelic Society

The main objective of the Cardinal Spellman Student Philatelic Society is to promote an active interest in philately in general and the Cardinal Spellman Collection in particular. This is accomplished by means of lectures, displays, participation in workshops, the classification of stamps, and emphasis on the actual collection of stamps by the members themselves. Activities are linked to the PEOPLE-TO-PEOPLE PROGRAM by highlighting the ideals, needs, and aims of the peoples of the world.

Members of the Regis College Chapter of the Society look forward to the opening of the Museum building, now under construction on the College campus.

Mary Lord, Sec'y; Kathleen Morabito, Vice-Pres.; Lenora Kennedy, Pres.; Roseanne Thomas, Pub. Mgr.; Eleanor Forrest, Treas.

Mathematical Club

Mathematics concentrators found many stimulating meetings on the agenda for this year. Early in the season they were addressed by Father Bazuska, S.J., of Boston College who spoke on the "Implications of Modern Mathematics". Gale Brosnihan, a Regis alumna, formerly a math major, and winner of a Fulbright scholarship spoke of her experiences in Germany.

Club members find lectures such as these helpful in the field which they are studying and are constantly being introduced to new concepts in mathematics.

Kathleen McAdams, Vice-Pres.; Vivian Camerlengo, Pub. Mgr.; Janet Monafo, Pres.; Sheila Schroeder, Sec'y; Virginia Kehoe, Treas.

Ellen Powers, Sec'y.; Marilyn Miller, Treas.; Susan Donnelly, Vice-Pres.; Patricia Cusack, Pres.

Louis Pasteur Club

The aim of the Louis Pasteur Club is to inform the student scientist of the recent trends and discoveries in her field.

An annual symposium highlights the year's activities. In addition, members hear lectures, attend stimulating discussions, and participate in a coordinated program of activities geared to their interests.

In a world where advancement of scientific endeavor becomes paramount, the science concentrators are supplementing their training with co-curricular activities sponsored by this club.

Dramatic Club

The Dramatic Club this year has aimed at a greater enrollment of active members. The fall production, Chalk Garden, and Guest Cottage, given in the spring, were the plays produced on campus during the school year.

Joint meetings were held with the Literati Club, and the annual Spaghetti Dinner was planned by the two groups.

Plans were initiated to present an all student production of Heidi to grammar schools in the Boston area. This provided an excellent realm for the training and experience of all members.

Club members also participated in the Babson Institute's production of South Pacific.

Anne Hickey, Pres.; Jean Harrington, Pub. Mgr.; Theresa Reis, Vice-Pres.; Kathleen Driscoll, Treas.; Julie Peterson, Sec'y.

Mary Arroll, Sec'y.; Mildred Cahill, Treas.; Diana Barry, Vice-Pres.; Marie O'Neill, Pres.

Art Club

To further the study of the visual arts and to provide opportunities for the development of artistic talent are the aims of the Art Club.

This year, the club planned a series of lectures by prominent authorities in art field, gallery tours, on-campus exhibits by students and contemporary artists, and club debates to initiate a new system of awareness of contemporary art. Notices of local events, including reviews and criticisms, were posted monthly on the club bulletin board.

The range of topics covered included the history, psychology, and appreciation of art and its relation to other fields.

Lambda Tau Phi

Lambda Tau Phi seeks to introduce Economics concentrators to professional opportunities in the business field. The club aims to guide its members in the integration of sound business principles and good technical policies.

This year, Economics majors toured the New York Stock Exchange and attended lectures by such outstanding persons as Miss Barbara Ward.

Members are stimulated to take an interest in modern affairs of the business world by career preparation in a field which is open for professional women.

Lizbeth McGuire, Pres.: Beverly Falcione, Vice-Pres.; Joan Iverson, Sec'y.; Jean Heron, Treas.

Katherine O'Rourke, Pub. Mgr.; Judith Horgan, Pres.; Nancy Clemons, Sec'y. Treas.; Judith Krampitz, Vice-Pres.

Classical Academy

Sigma Tau Phi, the Classical Academy, is a workshop composed of those students who are dedicated to a more complete knowledge of and interest in the Latin language and classical traditions.

Meeting monthly, the Academy engages in discussions concerning a comparison of the letters of Cicero and Pliny, the underlying theme of 1961-1962.

The Academy is ever alert to plays, movies, and lectures relating to the Classics. All activities afford the members a more complete realization of the richness of the background that they are exploring.

Standing: Mary Ford, Pub. Mgr.; Patricia Lilly, Commodore, Sailing Club; Joan Jackson, Vice-Pres. Seated: Eleanor Kealty, Treas.; Bernice Donahue, Pres.; and Sharlene Reil, Sec'y.

A. A.

The Athletic Association is open to all students, affording them the opportunity to develop skills and good sportsmanship. Activities cover a wide range of sports, including bowling, swimming, basketball, sailing, and tennis.

This year, members planned a January ski trip to North Conway, N. H., and attended a lecture and demonstration on techniques of fencing by the director at Brandeis University. A swimming party was held in December, and the basketball team played the annually scheduled games with colleges in the area.

C. C. D.

Confraternity of Christian Doctrine endeavors to acquaint students with their responsibilities of spreading the Word of Christ. The organization reaches this goal by preparing teachers of C. C. D. through its Methods Course, and by projecting to them the prominent attitudes and problems of members of other religions by means of the annual Convert Panel. This year, Reverend J. Edward Nugent C.S.P., director, brought Mrs. Sandra Prior of Wellesley College and Mr. James Angevine of Harvard to speak at Regis.

The members of C. C. D. also teach at the Walter Fernald School for Mentally Retarded Children, Metropolitan State Hospital, and their own parishes.

Alpha Omicron Tau

Alpha Omicron Tau wishes to further the interest in Home Economics on the campus and in society. It is affiliated with the Massachusetts and American Home Economics Associations.

Traditional activities include a party for underprivileged children — this year from Cardinal Cushing's Center for Spanish Speaking Peoples—and a fashion show, "The Twentieth Century Now and Then".

This year the meeting of the Massachusetts Home Economics Clubs was held at Regis. Framingham State, University of Massachusetts, and Simmons College were among the participants.

Phi Upsilon Omicron

Phi Upsilon Omicron is a national professional fraternity in which Regis is the only Catholic college to hold a chapter.

It was organized so that women with similar interests and ideals might aid in the development of active and intelligent leadership in the field of Home Economics.

The activities of Phi U this year include a Christmas party for underprivileged children, contributions to the National Scholarship Fund and assistance in the organization of the annual Spring fashion show.

Mount Regis

Within the confines of the journalism room, beside the coffee cups and candy wrappers, a dummy was born in the Fall of 1961. Quickly adopted by the Class of 1962, little Mount Regis was carefully nursed by her busy staff who made sure that all her expenses were paid so that she would grow up to be a noble prize in yearbook circles. Joan Williams and Nancy Greene were the balancers of this budget.

Always being photographed, little Mount became very attracted to cameras, cheese and Joan Serino, while Martha Brown directed her artistic development. Not wanting little Mount to be completely photogenic, Betsy Turnbull was her literary tutor supplying commas, quotes and captions.

Boasting of a new layout, dividers and cover, Mt. Regis became the headache of a staff, the talk of the campus, and the pride of her patrons. Growing in size and stature, quantity and quality, the annual of the Class of '62 was the special protégé of her Editor, Pat Long, who managed to remain a sane member of the Senior Class, the sociology department, and human race, despite deadlines, proofs, and the occasional disappearance of the Muses.

Following the old British custom that every child have a Nanny, Mt. Regis is the brain child and migrain of her new moderator, Miss Carole Riordan. The turmoil is ended . . . the typewriters are silent . . . the Mount of '62 has made her debut.

Regis Herald

Regis Herald, the student newspaper, has strived this year to incorporate its ideals and purposes into an informative and interesting organ of communication.

Our aim is to make the student aware of the vital issues in a challenging world in such articles as Red China, Democratic administration, and Castro's Cuba.

We have tried to bring campus news to the attention of each student in articles about the Regis Lay Apostolate, Campus Community Conferences, and campus building plans.

Our critics and reporters have given informative and critical articles on the latest books, shows, and movies.

The Regis Herald is for the student, for she is the one to assimilate the material, weigh the issues, and judge for herself.

Hemetera

Hemetera hints at being a literary magazine, a quality rather than a quantity publication. Hemetera prints the poetry of kindred spirits that sit around in their souls; articles by searching students groping in the field of criticism; essays by the coffee house set; plays by struggling sophomores and frustrated seniors; and reviews by the Eliot Nortons of the collegiate world.

Many interesting people are hidden between the covers. Eliot, Hemingway, and Picasso are favorite men on campus. Ayn Rand and Salinger are familiar faces in the fiction field. And international flavor seeps through the poetry as well as the prose as staff members break the language barrier.

Boasting of a "thinking" cover and pages of creativity, the Hemetera is the students' passport to the printed world of Ideas.

Founders Day

Founder's Day, October second, marks the establishment of the Sisters of St. Joseph in Boston. On this day, the seniors are awarded their caps and gowns — traditional token of scholastic standing.

Marching from College Hall around the drive and upon the hill to the Tower Gardens, the class followed in the footsteps of their predecessors. All were attired in white.

This year the caps and gowns were bestowed by His Eminence, Richard Cardinal Cushing, Archbishop of Boston, assisted by Father James Seymour, and the Misses Grace Hawley, Olive Nolan, Joan Shields, and Carole Riordan.

Christmas Banquet

On the eve of the Christmas holidays, the resident students and senior class are given the traditional Christmas banquet. The college dining room dons a new atmosphere amidst the Christmas spirit, culminating with each class's conveying in a cheery array of songs, a special Christmas wish. There follows a Christmas play in the gymnasium.

Having assembled in the chapel, the seniors, in caps and gowns, proceed to the foyer where the residents are assembled. From the light of the "college candle", the class presidents light their respective class candles and extend their class's greeting to the audience.

The seniors then carol through the darkened corridors and proceed outside to encircle the outdoor creche. As they assemble on the parterre, juniors shower them with confetti. The singing of the Alma Mater ends the formal part of the festivities.

Informal class parties then take place in the dorms.

Acknowledgment

Now from a maze of planning, compiling, editing and proof-reading, a finished product emerges. The publication of this annual is the result of many hours of cooperation on the part of the editors and staff.

The Mount Regis is grateful to the Administration, Faculty and students for their valuable advice and assistance throughout the year.

For the competent services of Mr. Harold Johnson, consultant at the Folsom Engraving Company in Boston, of Mr. Jerome Berman and Mr. A. J. Weiner of the Alfred Brown Studio, Brookline, and the aid of Mr. John Cole, advisor on printing problems from the Lexington Press, we are greatly indebted.

All the divider quotes are reprinted from The Prophet with the permission of the publisher, Alfred A. Knopf, Inc. Copyright 1923 by Kahlil Gibran; renewal copyright 1951 by Administrators C. T. A. of Kahlil Gibran Estate and Mary G. Gibran.

In closing, we of the Mount Regis wish to express our thanks to our Moderator, Miss Carole Riordan. Her solicitude for our success and her infinite patience have greatly contributed to the finished product.

A Book To Be Treasured . . .

This annual is a permanent record, in picture and prose, of the academic year 1961-62 at Regis College. Its value will increase as the years pass, and the quality of the printing will contribute in great measure to its lasting worth.

The Lexington Press, Inc., takes pride in its well-known craftsmanship which, combined with the long hours of careful planning and painstaking editorial work by the Mount Regis Staff, makes this a book to be treasured.
